COOLIDGE TO CARRY OUT HARDING'S ECONOMY PROGRAM

Federal Expenditures Will Continue to Be Cut, Executive Promises

BULLETIN
CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 13.—Calvin Coolidge will be the Republican nominee for the presidency in 1924, United States Senator George H. Moses, predicted here today. Senator Moses declared Coolidge had the solid support of New England and should command the eighty-eight votes from that section at the national convention.

By GEORGE E. DURNO
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—President Coolidge transacted official business at the White House today for the first time since he became the nation's chief executive.

Accompanied by Edward T. Clarke, his personal secretary, and Charles E. Hatfield, of Newton, Mass., a former Republican state chairman, the president moved from the New Willard hotel to the executive offices this morning.

Frank W. Stearns, Boston, close personal friend of the president, was the first caller at the executive office. George E. Christian, secretary to President Harding, remained at the office today to assist the president. While he has resigned, Christian will stay here for an extended period to help in clearing up the great pile of detail work which accumulated while he was on the western trip.

Cutting Down Expenses
Under the direction of Secretary Christian and Mrs. Harding, all of President Harding's personal effects were removed Sunday from his desk in the executive offices.

One of the first matters to receive the president's attention today was governmental economy, the strongest plank in the platform of the Republican party.

General M. Herbert was to confer with the president to map out the administration's program for paring down federal expenditures. As President Coolidge is committed politically and personally to economy measures, the continuance of the party economy program is assured.

As a result of week-end conferences, between the president and Attorney-General Daugherty, the Department of Justice today was expected to make known what action will be taken regarding the Southern Pacific merger. An appeal from the decision of the lower court, permitting this combination, is considered likely.

Cuban Situation
Likewise, as a result of a Sunday conference, the state department has under consideration the Cuban situation. Hubert Atkins, representing New York sugar interests, called at the Willard hotel Sunday and urged President Coolidge to intervene in Cuba to prevent the confiscation of American-owned properties. A tariff bill, now under consideration in the Cuban legislature, Atkins said, would make possible the seizure of railroad, port and other properties valued at millions of dollars in which American sugar interests are heavily interested. This matter has been referred to the state department and Atkins will confer with Secretary Hughes and General Crow-

Ask All Firms To Close At Noon Wednesday

ALL business houses in Glendale are requested to close at noon next Wednesday in honor of the big annual outing to be held in Haddock-Nibley Verdugo park under the auspices of the Glendale Merchants' association.

The motion requesting this action on the part of the business houses was made at the luncheon and meeting of the association at noon today and was unanimously carried.

Therefore, it is expected by the association that there will be a general closing of business places at noon next Wednesday.

Arthur Dibern To Give Report On Elks' Meet

ARTHUR H. DIBERN, past exalted ruler of Glendale Elks' lodge, who arrived home Saturday from attending the recent national Elks' gathering at Atlanta, Ga., and an extensive vacation trip, will be royally welcomed home tonight at the regular weekly meeting of Glendale Elks.

At the close of the session the band will give a musical program.

SANITARIUM IS HOST AT LUNCHEON

C. of C. Board Will Meet Tomorrow in Sun Room Of New Building

Guests at the luncheon that is to be given tomorrow in the sun room on the roof of the new Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital by the officials of the institution will be afforded a comprehensive idea of the magnitude of the new hospital that is being erected and of the scope of work that it is planned to carry on, according to C. E. Kimlin, business manager of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, who has invited a selected list of guests, taken from the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, the City Council, and the heads of various civic organizations, to the function.

A brief program that has been prepared will include several short addresses dealing with the sanitarium and its plans, in order that the people of Glendale may arrive at a correct estimate of the field that will be covered when this $600,000 institution begins to function along the lines that have already been laid down by the men and women behind it.

Open Forum Program
The directors of the Chamber of Commerce will hold a board meeting, putting their business through as briefly as possible, and the assembly will then take on the nature of an open forum, when several of the representative citizens present will be called on for addresses.

One of the most important events on the program, according to present plans, will be an address by F. D. Burleson, national Red Cross representative on the Pacific coast, who will speak on the Community Chest campaign that is planned for Glendale, giving his experience in organizing and operating similar campaigns in other cities. It had been originally planned to hold a meeting of the Community Chest organization tomorrow, under the leadership of Dr. Warren Z. Newton, chairman, but the luncheon at the Sanitarium has been given precedence and those who were to have held the Community Chest meeting have willingly agreed to defer their gathering until a later date.

Work Progressing
Work on the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital has been progressing rapidly since it was started several months ago, and every effort is being made to hasten the completion of the institution in order that the institution may be moved from its present location on East Broadway to the new site in the Verdugo Hills, where the quiet and the beauty of the surroundings cannot help but exercise a beneficial influence on the patients who are under the care of the physicians and the hospital staff.

Wood Suppressed Bank Crash Report, Claimed

MANILA, Aug. 13.—Representative Vicent E. Sotto's newspaper, "Independent," today published extracts from an alleged suppressed message from Governor General Leonard J. Wood, saying the Philippine National Bank had been wrecked by the administration and criminal negligence of Americans and Filipinos, including ex-Mayor Fernandez, to whose companies several million dollars in bad loans were alleged to have been made. At a joint meeting of Nationals and Collectivists, numbering about 500 delegates, a resolution was adopted approving resignations from the council of the state cabinet. This resolution followed a long speech by President of the Senate Manuel Quezon. The meeting condemned the attitude of Montinola, Sumulong and other Democrats.

BOY QUESTION FEATURE OF LODGE MEET

Arthur H. Dibern Tells of Elks Convention and of Visit East

"If the boys of Glendale do not get help along life's road when they need it, it will be because they do not make themselves known."

This was the promise of Arthur H. Dibern, past exalted ruler of the Glendale Benevolent Order of Elks, lodge No. 1289, who returned Saturday midnight to Glendale after attending the Elks national convention in Atlanta, Ga., last month.

"The predominant feature of the session was the 'boy question,' said Mr. Dibern, who also is working along similar lines in the Rotary club to aid Young America in making good. He expects to enlist the co-operation of both of these organizations in the national campaigns laid out to aid the boys.

Convention Delegate
Mr. Dibern went to Atlanta as the delegate of the Glendale lodge and after the convention he continued to Bedford City, Va., where he inspected the national Elks home. He also visited Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Md., Philadelphia, Pa., and New York City.

In the latter metropolis of the east he saw several of the latest productions on Broadway and thoroughly enjoyed five days among friends, but he has decided views as to differences between Easterners and Westerners.

"They know nothing but New York and little of that," he said in reference to the inhabitants of the various boroughs. "It is the great city of make believe. They do not know the freedom of our open spaces and I assure you that we take more pride in a humble bungalow in the green Verdugo hills than a wealthy New York resident does in his brownstone palace."

Hard Hit By Heat
As for the rest of his extensive trip Mr. Dibern says:

"Chicago was so hot you could hardly breathe and Kansas City was hotter. In Wichita, Kan., I visited Mrs. Dibern's relatives, also at Lincoln, Neb. When I visited the town of my birth, Boone, Ia., I had the pleasure of attending a Rotary club meeting in a grove near the city where a picnic dinner was enjoyed in the evening. It is too warm there for luncheon clubs."

"When you tell them about California they look dubious, although one realizes that to them this land of ours is so wonderful that they dream of seeing it some day and many of them are arranging their affairs to move here. In Boone, Ia., I could vividly remember all of the buildings standing twenty-five years ago and it was easy to count the number of new structures. It is so different from Glendale which changes from day to day, month to month and year to year."

"Continuing my journey to Seattle, via St. Paul, I found my brother Owen Dibern and his wife well in the northwest city, also the proud parents of a baby boy. A day was spent in San Francisco and Alameda calling on old acquaintances."

Mr. Dibern is a jeweler at 121 North Brand boulevard.

FARMER ISN'T THIRD PARTY SUPPORTER

Wheat Belt Not in Favor of Republican Bolt, Says Senator Capper

By H. K. REYNOLDS
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, the Republican chairman of the Senate "farm bloc," declared today that the Republican farmers of Kansas and other states in the wheat belt would not support any third party movement which might spring from the so-called agricultural revolt in the Middle West.

"The death of President Harding and the elevation of Calvin Coolidge to the presidency has created a new situation," Senator Capper said, "but the Western Republicans are not disposed to be critical prematurely. They hope the new president will prove himself their friend."

"In my travels through Kansas and neighboring states I saw no evidence of any desire for a Republican bolt to a third ticket and do not believe there will be one."

Not Much Support
"Political conditions, especially in Kansas, are not similar to those in Minnesota and the Minnesota plan of having the government buy and market the wheat crop is receiving little support."

"Senator Capper does not favor an extra session of congress to consider special agricultural action."

"They would mill around a few weeks and get nowhere," he explained. "That would not be satisfactory. I will take time for careful thought to work out new legislation. So far, I have not prepared any."

Discussing the relation of transportation to the agricultural situation, Senator Capper said:

"Transportation will be one of the foremost questions at the next session of Congress. The farmers and shippers generally are looking for relief from the present high freight rates."

Demand for Changes
"There is a demand for them and for changes in the Esch-Cummings law. I do not think the entire law should be knocked out, but there is a strong support for repeal of the guaranty clause which the people think is keeping freight rates up to insure dividends for the railroads. It may need a direct mandate from Congress to enforce the step."

Senator Capper said he did not favor the general consolidation of railroads "because it would tend to strengthen the influence of control over transportation facilities of rural districts by the great city terminals."

Operation on Screen Star Is Successful

WAR SLACKER CONFESSES SHOOTING

Grover Bergdoll Admits He Killed Man and Charges Plot to Kidnap

EBERBACH, Germany, Aug. 13.—A police guard was put over the Eberbach jail to protect those arrested after Grover Bergdoll, rich American draft evader, killed one man and wounded another, during an attempt to kidnap him. Feeling here is running high. Bergdoll, who is still at large, is with his mother, Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, of Philadelphia.

An investigation revealed that the attempt to seize Bergdoll was premeditated. Newspaper men got wind of the plot and were at Eberbach when the attempt was made. Bergdoll is still showing signs of the first fight which preceded the shooting in his room in the Knoenenberg hotel. He accuses the American Legion of the plan to seize him.

Admits Shooting
"Oh, I know who was behind it, all right," said Bergdoll. "I know who hired this ruffian, Schmidt."

Carl Schmidt was the man whom Bergdoll killed. "I don't deny that I shot that man," said Bergdoll. "There were too many against me, and I had nothing else to do. I hope to get a few shots at some more people who are after me."

Schmidt, with another fellow, got into my room through a ruse. They were to be paid well if they could overcome me and carry me out of the country."

Contrary to first reports, Schmidt did not die instantly, but lingered a few moments.

Mrs. Bergdoll is understood to be planning to return home next Monday.

Prison Safe Place

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 13.—"The safest place for Grover Cleveland Bergdoll is behind the bars of a penitentiary in the United States," Lemuel Bows, national adjutant of the American Legion, declared today in disavowing officially any interest of the American Legion in the move to bring back America's wartime super-slacker.

SEEKING BEST POSTOFFICE LOCATION

Officials Making Thorough Investigation Before Reaching Decision

Determining a desirable site for the Glendale postoffice is the problem which is confronting federal officials this week. Captain D. Ripley Jackson, postmaster, making plain the following points are guiding the work:

First—The site selected must be one from which the best service may be obtained.

Second—Growth of the office and expansion are two factors to be considered.

Third—Proximity to the Pacific Electric and Glendale & Montrose railroads for the convenience of carriers also is of major importance.

Fourth—The postoffice will be located as near the heart of the business district as possible for the purpose of serving the largest number of commercial institutions from lock boxes.

Thorough Inquiry
It may be anticipated that the Glendale postoffice will be found convenient to the largest number of people.

Just where the site will be, however, will not be determined for some days, regardless of the fact that bids have been received.

Neither Inspector Hall nor Postmaster Jackson are to be committed until they reached a definite conclusion, guided by the principles of common sense set down in the foregoing paragraphs.

STATE OF SIEGE

HAMBURG, Aug. 13.—A state of emergency (modified state of siege) was proclaimed today.

GASOLINE CUT RESULTS IN BLOCKADE

Motorists Obstruct Traffic in Attempt to Fill Up on Cheap Fuel

BULLETIN
CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Appointment of sound "business men" to study the gasoline question and report the truth will be asked of President Coolidge by a committee of oil men, it was learned here today, as Chicago joined the ranks of central western states and cities warring on the present high price of gasoline.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 13.—Hundreds of motorists, lining up for blocks, obstructed traffic and made police reserves necessary to maintain order at twenty or more points in the Twin Cities today as three of the smaller gasoline distributors operating filling stations opened for business today with a cut in the gas price ranging from 2 to 4 cents a gallon.

Motorists made the most of the price smash by the smaller distributors. The three big distributors were hourly expected to announce that they will meet the competition, as they did in South Dakota last week.

Warned By Governor

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 13.—Oil companies were warned by Governor Charles W. Bryan today to reduce the retail price of gasoline or state-owned filling stations will be placed in operation. The governor was today communicating with refineries in an effort to secure an adequate supply of motor fuel. Without a guaranteed source, the plan would be a failure, he feels. The executive is confident of success in the event the state does enter the retail business.

While serving as mayor of Lincoln he was instrumental in cutting the price of gas and to coal. The threat to build a municipal gas plant was sufficient to bring down the price, and establishment of a municipal coal yard had the same effect. His past experience in that line will serve him well if state-owned stations are installed, he feels.

City to Sell Near 14 Cts.

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 13.—The city of Superior is preparing to sell gas to the public at slightly over 14 cents a gallon, city commissioner John Schaefer announced this morning.

"I do not wish to take the offensive in a gas war here," said Commissioner Schaefer, "but if people of the city indicate that they desire it, will start selling to the public." (Continued on page 3)

SITUATION IN EUROPE IS ALARMING TO HIGH OFFICIALS

Question How Far Premier Baldwin Is Prepared to Back Words

BULLETIN

PARIS, Aug. 13.—The legality of French occupation of the Ruhr, which was attacked in the latest British note, was defended by the French foreign office today. It was pointed out that under paragraph 18, of annex 2, part 8, of the treaty of Versailles, signed by David Lloyd George and the German representatives, both Germany and the allies agreed to Ruhr occupation.

According to foreign office opinion the Baldwin note represents a step backward from the entente. Foreign office officials believe from the tone, that there is catering to America.

By DAVID M. CHURCH

For International News Service
LONDON, Aug. 13.—Great Britain and France have again been brought to the verge of crisis by publication of the latest British note to France threatening independent action on the Ruhr and reparations.

Publication of the British communication drew back the veil, showing just how serious the European situation has become. The big question now is how far Premier Baldwin is prepared to back up his stern words.

The Herald, the Labor organ, declared the notes now being exchanged have the ominous ring of those that preceded the World War.

The Chronicle, personal organ of former Premier David Lloyd George, demanded that the premier withdraw entirely from continental Europe, allowing France to struggle alone with Germany. This paper expressed fear that he had waited too long before taking a strong stand.

Government circles were frankly pessimistic, expressing the view that France is not likely to back down, especially in the face of the war memorial speech made by Premier Poincare yesterday.

Watching United States
Great Britain is closely watching the United States for an indication as to whether the premier will support the British. Officials declare England would not hesitate to act alone, if assured of American support.

It was admitted that the British notes were published in such a way as to insure the widest publicity in the United States. It is now up to France to make the next move by accepting or rejecting the British suggestions.

Official circles believe that fall of the Cuno government at Berlin has complicated the situation. Even if Gustave Stresemann should succeed in forming a new German cabinet, there is no indication he will relinquish Cuno's policy of passive resistance, against French occupation of the Ruhr.

GLENDALE TAKES CONTEST, 7 TO 3

Locals Hand Out Defeat to Hoffman Squad in
Speedy Game

Before a large crowd, the Glendale team handed the Paul G. Hoffman delegation a neat trimming in a fast game yesterday afternoon on the home grounds at Park avenue and San Fernando road, the final tally being 7 to 3.

Through the contest, the local boys played good ball. In the eighth frame the visitors spoke their little surprise piece, when with the score 4 to 0 in favor of Glendale, the Hoffman lads bunched hits for three tours of the bases.

Their rally was short-lived, however, for in the last of the eighth the locals snuck in three runs, sewing up the game with wire wool.

"Slim" Harris, who did the stuff on the mound for Glendale, let the visitors down with four hits, putting nine opposing batsmen out of the way via the strike-out route.

Kerwin All There
"Pep" Kerwin, the locals' new catcher, made a big hit with the fans by his good work; and Wilson, the hard-working shortstop, played a big game, handling three hard chances without a miss, in addition to doing some real stick-work.

The fans were pleased to see Sam Bell, last year's star first-basemen, back in uniform at his old position. With Kerwin behind the bat and Bell on first, the team began to look like the smooth-rolling machine of a year ago.

Miss Hurst Lichner, the woman umpire, took all the growls, knocks and cat-calls just the same as any man, and with a level equal grace, and made a very good job of it.

The WORLD OVER By FRANKLIN B. MORSE PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

It took a Pacific coast professional golfer to "discover" what the wisecracks of Chicago passed up in the way of a golfing phenomenon. The "find" is a little 3-year-old miss from the Windy City who has a wonderful natural aptitude for the game. Her name is Georgia Durgan, pretty and athletic little daughter of Mrs. George Rogers Durgan. Charles Dietrick, professional at the Coronado Country club made the "find."

After only half a dozen lessons, Dietrick says, the diminutive golfer has acquired form that is no less nearly perfect than some of Coronado's best golfers. She also has shown surprising accuracy in iron shots, and so natural is her stance and swing with the special-made driver that with regular practice and strength developed by allied years on the links, the Coronado golf expert believes few of the maturer members of the fair sex will be able to equal the distance of her drives.

The only man who does not know that Jack Miller, the manager of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League, is afflicted with tuberculosis is Miller himself, who is under the impression that he merely has suffered a nervous breakdown. Miller has

SPORTS CHATTER By BILL UNMACK PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Big and strong, but crude, is the general verdict given in connection with Firpo, and the majority think the South American will come a cropper if he tangles with Dempsey before another year.

Of course, Promoter Tex Rickard wants to put on the Dempsey-Firpo match in September. Firpo is in the public eye and would be a drawing card that would bring Tex in much money. That's what he is after, and he doesn't care a continental cuss how the match turns out after all the gate receipts are in.

Tex would have his money and Firpo would be out of the South American ring for all time. Once a boxer is defeated in a championship battle it is a hundred to one that he never comes back to that estate from which he has been tumbled even though he is not a champion. It is merely another form of come-back that seldom ever is "put over."

One thing seems apparent. Firpo appears to be a rudderless ship. There is something wrong with the manner in which he is being handled. This is obvious or his manager would put his foot down hard on a match against Dempsey.

U. S. TO RETAIN TENNIS HONORS

Mrs. Gerald Beamish, English Star, Loses Match to Miss Eleanor Goss

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 13.—The Wightman cup, emblematic of international supremacy in women's tennis, will remain in America for at least one year as a result of the defeat of Mrs. Gerald Beamish of England, by Miss Eleanor Goss, the American, in the first singles played this afternoon on the courts of the West Side Tennis club. The scores were 6-2, 0-6, 7-5, the American's greater variety of stroke and her terrific service giving her the final and ultimate advantage. The match was played under almost impossible weather conditions, a high wind cutting across the enclosure. Miss Goss' victory marked the fourth American triumph in as many matches played during the present series.

To singles matches and one doubles match will complete the program, but they are merely a formality, since it is mathematically impossible for the British to win the cup.

Small Crowd Present
A meager crowd viewed the proceedings. Fewer than a thousand persons were in the enclosure when Miss Goss and Mrs. Beamish stepped into view.

The remainder of the international program includes singles matches involving Miss Helen Wills, the California child wonder, and Mrs. E. C. Clayton, of England, and Miss Molla Maury, and Miss Kitty McKane, star of the invaders, and a doubles match in which the Wills-Mallory combination will face Mrs. Beamish and Mrs. Clayton. All of the stars mentioned, plus Miss Leslie Bancroft, No. 2 in the American lists, will appear in the first round of the singles championship.

Foothill Tennis Club Meets Next Thursday

The Foothill Tennis club, organized by the young people of Casa Verdugo, is expected to provide many jolly times. Last week the members enjoyed a wiener-bake, and will meet for tennis practice Thursday night, August 16, on the courts adjacent to the Casa Verdugo Methodist church.

The officers of the organization are: Malcolm Barnard, president; Miss Goldie Drake, secretary; and Miss Charlotte Hawkinson, treasurer.

PRASE FOR POLICE
Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of the police department, has received the following letter from W. H. Whalen, superintendent of the local division of the Southern Pacific:

"Attention has been called to the good work performed by yourself and members of your staff in handling crowds at Glendale on the evening of July 30 when we were clearing up a derailment. I assure you that your efforts were very much appreciated and at any time we can reciprocate I trust you will call upon us."

BIG BUSINESS AT OPENING OF BANK

Federal Commercial & Savings Bank Swamped by First Day's Rush

When the doors of the Federal Commercial & Savings bank, at the southeast corner of Brand boulevard and Wilson avenue finally swung shut at 9 o'clock Saturday night, after a phenomenal opening day's business, the success of Glendale's newest banking institution was seen to be assured.

For hours, following the closing of the doors that had been open since 9 o'clock Saturday morning, officers and employees tolled over the books, swamped by the rush of funds to their institution.

But when at 9 o'clock this morning the doors opened again, every account had been checked and the Federal commercial & Savings bank was ready for business with a fresh page in every ledger.

Flowers to Churches
Noticeable, however, was the absence of Saturday's many baskets of beautiful flowers, which had been distributed to the local churches and hospitals, and noticeable was the presence of busy carpenters, marble-masons, electricians and other artisans, adding the final touches that will make this fine new bank into a beautiful institution.

In extending thanks to the make this fine new banking institution, the Federal Commercial & Savings bank by depositing there, and in thanking all those who sent flowers and other expressions of friendship, and those who paid personal visits to the bank, Charles C. Cooper, president, speaks for his fellow officers, directors and stockholders in declaring that it was a most heart-warming and inspiring tribute.

Pleased With Support
May & Hellman, a Glendale firm of contractors and builders, had the general contract of the new bank, remodeling the building and putting in fixtures. The vault equipment was supplied by the Sweetser & Baldwin Safe Co. of Los Angeles, and the vault protection by the Burglar Protection company, also of Los Angeles. The Newton Electric company, of Glendale, put in the electric signs and fans, while the Glendale Electric company installed the other electric fixtures. The marble was supplied by the Wessene Marble & Tile company and the furniture by the Pacific Desk company, both of Los Angeles. The delicious punch served at the opening reception on Saturday was donated by the Henry-Brown "Sierra Club" company, of Glendale, well known makers of beverages.

Commenting on the opening day and this morning's business, Jesse V. Rea, vice president and cashier of the Federal Commercial & Savings bank, states that everyone is more than gratified by the fine support accorded the new institution.

APRONS with an Individuality

All Their Own

Not the aprons of the slap-stick variety, but aprons made with the care, even more care, than you would give to them if you were making them yourself. These aprons are not the every day style you find in any store you may step into, nor are they the aprons that many others are wearing. These aprons stand out alone, not only that, they are well tailored, carefully made, but their styles are in a class by themselves.

Made with dainty scalloped pockets, trimmings carefully chosen with picot edging and spoke crochet work; colors and combination of colors that are both pleasing and delightful to gaze upon. Made of very best quality gingham, percales and school day cloths. A cloth that is very seldom, if ever, used in the making of aprons. Made with round, square and V necks, in such becoming styles that your neighbors want to know who made them, because that is the kind of aprons they are looking for. We sell better aprons than you can make yourself at the popular price of

Sharing Community Benefits and Aiding Community Building

The future and destiny of Glendale are in the hands of the people. The city has reached heights we had not thought to be able to scale. Forces outside of ourselves, such as our location and our environment have aided us heretofore but the further heights must be reached by our own efforts. Intelligence and loyalty are the staffs upon which we must lean in our climb to the higher peaks.

Glendaleans, anxious to share their good fortune, are luring their friends and relatives here in large numbers with tales of our delightful climate, our high altitude, our convenient location, our beautiful surroundings, the cordiality and enterprise of our citizens and the great progress Glendale is making.

While it is praiseworthy to wish to share the good things of life there is another side to the question. Nature is responsible for some of our blessings as a city but there are other features that contribute to making Glendale an ideal home city that man must control. We must work intelligently to maintain and increase, as Glendale grows numerically, those advantages that should go hand in hand with such wonderful natural benefits as Glendale enjoys.

The best churches and schools, good public utility service at reasonable rates, a clean, moral atmosphere, capable and conscientious public officials, wide-awake business and professional men and a metropolitan business district; all these, we believe, we now possess in a degree of excellence above the average for a city of our population. But the co-operation of our citizenship is essential in keeping these things commensurate with Glendale's importance as she continues to grow.

Civic patriotism is necessary, a loyalty to Glendale institutions, a patronage of Glendale stores and Glendale industries and a whole-hearted acceptance of the motto, "Glendale for Glendaleans."

The men and women who sponsor this page are working for a Greater Glendale. It is only through your co-operation with them that Glendale can hope to maintain and enlarge her metropolitan business center.

EAGLE ROCK CLUB RECEPTION OPENS NEW HOME

Benefit for Piano Fund Is Held in Residence on Hill Near City

The new hillside home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Braasch, at Hill and Windermere avenues, was open to the public Saturday and Sunday afternoons, August 11 and 12, from 2 until 6 o'clock, under the auspices of the Women's Twentieth Century Club, when a benefit reception and musicale were conducted, the proceeds to go into the club's piano fund.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. F. M. Brock, and on Saturday afternoon the Junior Music Club held a sale of home-cooked foods and pastries for the benefit of the piano fund. The Fitzgerald Music Company, who loaned an Ampico for the occasion, took part in the musical program, presenting Brahms, Von den Berg and Miss Eleanor Woodford. Mrs. Elsie Van Norman, Miss Constance Braasch and other soloists contributed to the delightful program.

Built on a knoll of the San Rafael hills, the Braasch home commands a wonderful outlook over the surrounding hills and valleys, and afforded the guests a great deal of enjoyment as they were conducted around by hostesses from the Women's Club.

Renaissance Type
The Braasch home, for which J. L. Egease was the architect, presents a new Renaissance type, embodying many novel principles. Norman, Viking, Southern Saxon and Italian architectural features have been combined with Spanish into an ensemble at once striking and beautiful, suggestive of another age than the present.

This suggestion of remoteness, of antiquity, almost of legend, is carried out everywhere, from the bizarre perspective of the entrance of the sun parlor to the curiously wrought antique battlements rising as though the reincarnation of some medieval dream.

Playground Supervisor
Miss Elizabeth Dever, who is a recent arrival from Philadelphia, Pa., is the new playground supervisor at the Eagle Rock school. Under the direction of the Los Angeles Playground Commission, she plans to carry out many features of interest to children, and will hold an exhibition at the close of the season.

Miss Dever, among other innovations, will institute folk dancing, playing of old games, basket-making and gymnastic work. Parents will be glad to know that their children are in such good hands, and can rest assured that gratifying results will be accomplished in the course of the next few weeks.

In order to make her work more effective, Miss Dever invites all mothers, big sisters and other members of the family to join the boys and girls at any time, in the work, and always to feel free to come and watch them. In this way she believes the playground idea will be encouraged in Eagle Rock, paving the way for bigger activities along this line in coming seasons.

BURBANK HOUSE SHORTAGE PREDICTED SOON

Homes for New Residents in Fall Serious Problem
for Realty Men

Scores of private residences, in addition to many apartment houses and bungalow courts, are going up in Burbank, and yet it is predicted by those who know that there will be a serious housing shortage this fall, when the flood of tourists begin to arrive.

"That is going to be a serious rental property, in particular," thoughtful real estate men want to know. K. K. Simpson, W. A. Thompson and others who have studied the situation state that while there are always a number of desirable houses, bungalows and apartments obtainable in the summer, the winter months have invariably produced a shortage, which this fall will be acute unless sufficient building operations are at once begun to accommodate the known demand, based on past seasons.

In July there were but sixty-two permits issued by the building department, which, according to those who know, will relieve the situation but little, particularly in view of the fact that most of them are homes that will not be available for renting.

Losing Residents
Some real estate men even go so far as to declare that additional population is being driven away from Burbank by reason of the housing shortage. This argument is met by those on the other side of the fence by the remark that if the city were full of available houses for rent people would be likely to wonder what was the matter and why so many vacancies existed. These "stand-patters" claim that the harder it is to get located in Burbank, the more determined will newcomers be, as such is the perversion of human nature.

Which, of course, leads into philosophical realms, their opponents retort, and Burbank has more need for construction than for argument!

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

CHURCHES of Glendale held solemn, impressive services yesterday, attended by large crowds. Pastors preached on varied topics and special music was provided by soloists and choirs. Herewith are presented brief excerpts from sermons and, too, other church news:

Peter's Denial Forms Cole's Sermon Theme

"Peter's Denial" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the Central Christian Church.

"The Bible deals with real men and tells the truth about them; he said it is a book from heaven," remarked Rev. C. A. Cole. "The proof of its truth is just here."

"Yes, this was the man who confessed that Christ was the Son of God and then begged Him to spare him. It is He who now vehemently declares that he would die for Christ and then in the hour of danger curses and swears that he does not know Him. A fine kind of a man, we would think, with which to start a great enterprise that is to encompass and save the world."

"Ah, friends, but he is a real man. And from real men are made the leaders. From men of passion and failure come mighty men of valor and true as steel. Heroes are not gods but men—men who have found themselves and Christ. He failed at first and fell ignominiously. He 'petered out' but he found himself and confessed his sin and redeemed his promises by fearless preaching and stripes, by dying for the one whom he had denied."

Pastor Says Religion Is Used Like Medicine

"It has been said that a little learning is a dangerous thing; so a little religion is a constant source of trouble to the soul," Dr. H. C. Funk made this assertion yesterday morning at the First Lutheran Church. The subject of the sermon was "Saul of Tarsus."

"I know some people who have just enough religion to make them miserable," he continued. "They row so close to the shore that they can tie up for almost every amusement that takes place on questionable territory."

"Then there are those who look upon religion very much as they do upon medicine. They take as little medicine these days as they can, which is very commendable, but they take the medicine to keep them from getting down sick in bed and religion to keep them from going down to Hell."

"Saul was not of this class, for we are told that he was zealous toward God even above many of his countrymen. He was a big pharisee and yet he was very religious. He was the chief of sinners and yet he lived in all good conscience before God."

Woman First European Convert, Says Teacher

The first Christian convert on European soil was not a man, but a woman, according to Rev. Keith L. Brooks, teacher of the Men's Brotherhood Bible Class of the Presbyterian church.

"Paul had a vision in which he saw a man of Macedonia praying for him to come to that country and preach the Gospel," he explained yesterday morning in his council room at the city hall. "Immediately he went in obedience to the vision. Upon his arrival, he came across a woman's prayer meeting on the bank of a river."

"Prominent in this meeting was a woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira. She was the first to accept Paul's message and to be baptized with all her household. Thus the man of Macedonia turned out to be a woman and she was not a native of Macedonia but Thyatira in Asia."

"That was an epoch-making meeting on the quiet river bank. The Gospel stole upon Europe like the dawn and began in a woman's prayer meeting."

True Greatness Forms Theme of Cory Sermon

"The world does not always recognize true greatness while it is still with us," said Rev. B. C. Cory, in his sermon at the service Sunday morning at the Casa Verdugo Methodist church. His theme was "True Greatness," and in illustration he touched upon the lives of many notable persons.

Mrs. John W. Cotton sang a beautiful contralto solo, "The Perfect Prayer."

A quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cotton, rendered "The Touch of His Hand on Mine." At the evening service, Rev. Cory took for his theme "The Perfection of Beauty" and called his sermon a nature study in religion. At the close of the service he sang a solo, an old-time hymn, "I'm only a Sinner Saved by Grace."

August 11, at the Haddock-Nibley park, Glendale, over 500 merry-makers assembling, a throng that included Druids, their families and friends.

There was a picnic luncheon at noon, Italian style, the afternoon being devoted to games, sports and contests of various kinds. Pietro Romeo, chairman of the entertainment committee, had complete charge of arrangements, and to him Druids are today turning with tributes of praise for the delightful time he arranged.

It was Mr. Romeo who nine months ago organized the Burbank Grove of Druids.

MOUNTAINS LEAD MAN NEARER GOD

Reservoir of Power, Riches,
For Mankind's Benefit,
Declares Pastor

"The Message of the Mountains" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church.

"In the history of the human race the mountains have exercised no small influence," declared Rev. H. C. Mullen. "Their effect upon national life and character has been marked. Mountain passes have determined the trend of the migrations of peoples. In ancient times they were closely associated with man's religious worship and aspirations. The Greeks considered them the dwelling places of the gods. On the summits of the mountains man built altars on which to sacrifice to his deities."

"For one thing mountains cause us to look up and that is good. For blessed be that which helps us take our eyes off the clouds and look upon the clouds. Dirt is a good and essential thing. It grows crops of grain and fruits and flowers but never character. One's soul can not feed upon soil. Man's higher life demands the heavens, God."

The mountains are reservoirs of power. Looked in their fastnesses is energy unreckoned. Man has but to harness that power and it becomes his servant. If we will but lift up our eyes in trust to the God who made the mountains we will find power to propel all of life's machinery, strength to keep us going, and going right and always.

"The mountains, like God, are ever giving, ever enriching the valleys with their deposits of silt, ever sending down their life-giving streams of water. Their gift of minerals, snow and forest to mankind is an inestimable portion of the riches of God's bounty to his human children."

The mountains also suggest the abiding things of life. They looked down on the infancy of the race. They have seen the generations follow each other to the tomb. The finger print of time is upon them. "The everlasting hills" is the expression their permanency inspired.

"But we are to lift our eyes to the God who made the mountains, and who will be here when they are no more. They are of the earth, and all that is of the earth will perish eventually. But it is written of God, 'Thou remainest, and thy years shall have no end.'"

World's Unrest Marks Progress, Says Pastor

"There is a strange restlessness upon the world everywhere," said Dr. Henry I. Rasmus yesterday morning at the First Methodist church.

"Humanity is going on the move in every direction," he continued. "It is not altogether the spirit of discontent, but of progress. He who travels up and down this great Republic for six weeks without receiving impressions and forming opinions, must be utterly unconscious of the trend of the great moving world. I came back from my vacation with definite impressions which I bring to you this morning."

"The first impression was the magnitude of the land in which we live. Caesar never dreamed in his wildest fancy of an empire like this. Napoleon Bonaparte in his maddest ambition never fashioned a realm to rule over compared to ours."

"The state of California is one thousand miles in length than greater in territorial area than New England, New York and Pennsylvania combined. It has unrivaled scenery and boundless material wealth. It is providentially protected from invading forces on every side. And this land of immense magnificence stands as the good Samaritan among all nations, laying its healing touch upon the sore spots of the world."

PASTOR DELAYED
Rev. J. C. Livingston, pastor of the Casa Verdugo Methodist Episcopal church, who has been in Canada for several weeks, will not be here to fill the pulpit next Sunday morning as he has been delayed in returning. Rev. B. C. Cory will be the supply at both services next Sunday.

PREACHES TONIGHT
Dr. James F. Winnard of the Tropico Presbyterian church will conduct the services tonight at the Midnight Mission, Los Angeles, and will be accompanied by several of the members of the church's Y. P. S. E. who will assist with a musical program.

Rev. J. A. Batchelor of Los Angeles preached yesterday morning in American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway, at the service of the Broadway Methodist Church South.

BAPTIST SERVICES
Rev. John Bentzine of Pasadena occupied the pulpit yesterday at both services of the First Baptist church.

LA MESAN PREACHES

Rev. M. O. Frost of La Mesa preached yesterday morning at the Congregational church.

was "What are These That are Arranged?" by Stainer. The evening service was "The Power of Jesus' Name," by Lorenz.

Mrs. Retts and Miss Mottern alternated in singing the solos of the day. The former sang "Fear Not Ye, O Israel," by Buck, in the morning and the latter sang "My Heavenly Home" by Neidlinger.

Pastor Pays Tribute To Life of Harding

Services at the Broadway Methodist church yesterday were of more than usual interest. A beautiful tribute was paid to the life of our late President by the speaker, who read Mr. Harding's favorite passage of Scripture—the passage upon which he placed his lips at the time of his inauguration, Micah 6:8 "He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

An appropriate prayer was offered in behalf of our sorrowing nation, and Divine aid and guidance was asked for our new President. The forty-sixth Psalm was read in unison by the congregation in compliance with Mr. Coolidge's request that every congregation in the nation assembled to worship God read this Psalm on this day.

In the pastor's absence, Rev. J. A. Batchelor of Los Angeles delivered the sermon, and chose for his discourse John 6:63, "The words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life." In eloquent language the speaker delivered a strong sermon, forcefully impressing his audience with the necessity of their part for self-denial, sacrifice and service. These three words are the key to Christ's own life and teachings.

"Self-denial" is written in the Constitution of Christ's program for His followers, and is necessary if the world is to be evangelized, and we must contribute ourselves to this program. Unless we are willing to spend and be spent for others our lives will be fruitless. If any cause in this whole world means anything to you, you have got to put something into it, and that something is "service."

A new home is being built at First street and Grand view avenue for Miss Hazel Pestor, who will be on the teaching staff of the Sunland school next term.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Adams of Elgin, Neb., who own five acres at Sunland and Walnut Drive, visited here recently.

Mrs. Ella Croatter and son, Wayland, have bought property near the park and intend to build a home there in the near future. Mr. Croatter is a mechanic and he finds the location suitable for him to open a garage and service station in Sunland. Their former home was in Baltimore.

THE GLENDALE

"Paddy-the-Next-Best-Thing," a superior film of English manufacture, is the attraction at the Glendale Theatre today. Whimsical, capricious, amusing and Irish from her nose to her toes, charming Mae Marsh, who plays the title role in this picture version of Gertrude Page's well-known novel and stage play, gives one of the outstanding characterizations of her career.

Everyone who has seen "Paddy-the-Next-Best-Thing" is struck by the realistic nature of the thrills provided by the escapades of Paddy, for in making this picture Miss Marsh was as plucky as charming. She is a very athletic, outdoor sort of a girl, and the present vehicle gave her opportunities to swim, ride, climb and indulge in many other strenuous pursuits.

"Paddy-the-Next-Best-Thing" is delightful entertainment.

S. S. California, in the waters of American Lake while visiting Camp Lewis.

ABRAMS METHODS TOLD IN LECTURE

Electronic Theory Subject of Address by Doctors at Clinic Sunday

"The Electronic Reactions of Abrams constitute the most revolutionary concept in the history of medicine." This statement, made by Dr. Biddle during her lecture before a well-attended meeting of the E. R. A. Polyclinic last night, sounded the keynote of a very interesting address. Continuing Dr. Biddle said, in part: "Science is now recognizing the similarity of all material, and since the Electronic Theory has become a scientific fact, we are now able to change the 'seen' by the 'unseen'."

In metallurgy, specific gravity can be changed by the rearrangement of Electrons; so we find in Electronic Medicine the same power with disease.

"I maintain that for the first time in history disease is now being dealt with in a scientific and accurate way. To Dr. Abrams' patient effort we owe our present development in Electronic medicine, and as it is in its infancy advances are being rapidly made in both the diagnosis and treatment."

Dr. Kirschner Speaks

Dr. Robert Kirschner followed Dr. Biddle with a lucid explanation of this world-discussed theory. The doctor said:

"The principle upon which Electronic diagnosis and treatment is based, is that all matter is composed of millions of minute electrical charges. No eye has ever beheld these 'electrons,' they are millions of times smaller than anything the microscope can reveal; but it has been found possible by various devices to photograph or otherwise record the effects of their activity. These Electrons constitute universes in themselves."

"Electronic medicine takes the view that all disease is an active process, a form of radio-activity. A diseased condition, if it continues long enough, will produce changes in body tissues, but this is merely the resultant effects of the disease. The Electronic Method can detect and measure the various forms of energy manifested by disease."

"It is possible to make a diagnosis of a diseased condition in its inception, long before alteration or destruction of body tissue has occurred."

The doctor's lecture attracted keen attention.

Other Methods Used

The E. R. A. Polyclinic situated at 903 South Central is combining all modern methods of diagnosis and treatment in its efforts to establish an open-minded health institute. The Electronic Reactions of Abrams are not used to the exclusion of everything else. The examinations consist of Electronic blood examination, physical examination, laboratory analysis of blood and urine, osteopathic and dental examination.

Plot to Slay Motion Picture Star Alleged

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—Investigation of the mysterious murder of over a year ago of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director, may be re-opened as the result of an alleged plot to slay Mary Miles Minter, screen star, and one of Taylor's many young women friends, several weeks ago, it developed today.

Friends of Miss Minter declare that the attempt upon the star's life was made near her bungalow shortly after she had turned the place over to Miss Sigrid Holmquist, film actress, about June 10. A shot is said to have been fired from ambush, narrowly missing Miss Holmquist and inflicting a slight wound to one of the guests at a dinner party. The person who fired the shot escaped. Miss Minter's friends believe the bullet was meant for her because of Miss Holmquist's resemblance to Miss Minter. The theory was advanced that the shot may have been fired by Taylor's slayer or by some one who figured in his death, as Miss Minter was one of his closest friends.

Chevrolet Will Stick To Superior Models

It is stated this morning by Harry Smith, manager of the firm, that the 1924 models will not differ in any marked degree from those that have been manufactured during 1923, as the factory intends to concentrate all of its energies on the manufacture of the Superior models that proved such a marked success during this past season.

LION AND SNAKE FURNISH THRILLS

Storm Adds to Excitement
Encountered by Party on Week-end Trip

An outing which featured a wind storm, a mountain lion and a diamond-backed rattler was the lot of a party of Glendale and Inglewood friends who spent the week-end at Grass valley, fishing in Deep creek.

For the second time this year, Mrs. W. H. Flynn of 331 El Bonito street has had an outing interrupted by a violent wind storm. Early in the spring, a camping trip to Palm Springs was terminated before the party unpacked by a desert wind which threatened every minute to overturn their closed car. They beat a hasty retreat through a blinding dust storm and arrived home at daybreak.

Friday last Mrs. Flynn, accompanied by her brother, Hershel Cummins, and her sons Billy and Dickie, left for Grass valley, intending to camp for the night under the cottonwoods and the next day join Mr. Flynn and a party of friends for a further excursion.

Although a strong wind was blowing it was hoped that it would decrease as the sun went down. On the contrary the wind increased, it lightened, the cottonwoods swayed dangerously, and a mountain storm seemed imminent. It was impossible to keep the covers on the beds, although they weighted them down with rocks, and at 9 o'clock the party packed and left the valley.

Meet Mountain Lion

As it was some hours before the Glendale party would start, and with the thought that their good beds in Glendale would feel awfully good, a decision was reached to return to Glendale and make a fresh start Saturday noon. They reached Glendale at 2 a. m. It was on this trip that the mountain lion, disturbed by the storm, confronted them in the road, and they were glad of a closed car.

Saturday noon Mr. Flynn and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thad Collier, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kennedy and son Billy, Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor and Mary Jo and Jimmie Kennedy, Mrs. Helen Cummins and Hershel Cummins returned to the valley. The storm had subsided, and fishing was fairly good. An exciting encounter with a huge rattlesnake was the culminating feature of the outing. The rattler showed fight and chased members of the party, but was finally dispatched. It had nine rattles.

Ticks and mites are to be found in all parts of the world.

J. R. Grey Proposes Securing High School Properties for Civic Center, City Hall, P. O.

J. R. GREY, in a communication to The Glendale Evening News, offers some suggestions relative to the new location for the postoffice. In brief, he suggests that the City Council should call a mass meeting for the purpose of considering ways and means of acquiring the present high school grounds and buildings for a civic center, a city hall and postoffice. His letter in full follows:

NEW PHONE BOOK READY AUGUST 18

Present Directories to Be Superseded by Lists of New Numbers

"The present or February Los Angeles County telephone directory will be superseded on August 18 by a book bearing that date. Do not use the old directories after August 18.

"Due to the enormous number of books to be printed and delivered—275,000, or 562 tons of complete books—it will be impossible to complete distribution in one day.

This was the message today of Fred Deal, local manager of the telephone company, to the people of Glendale.

He added that the old directories will be collected as soon as possible after August 18 and the new ones distributed at the same time to those holding the obsolete books. Distribution, according to Mr. Deal, is scheduled to be completed as fast as possible.

Numbers Changed

The Los Angeles County directories now in the hands of subscribers will be worse than useless after midnight of August 18, because it is then that more than 70,000 Los Angeles telephone numbers will be changed. A call to Los Angeles using one of the old numbers after that date will result in service interference, according to Manager Deal.

So, before placing any call to Los Angeles after August 18, if one of the new directories is not at hand, the Glendale telephone user should call "Information" and make sure of the new number, or that the old number has not been changed.

The number changes in Los Angeles were necessary, said Manager Deal, because of the extremely rapid growth of the city, which is comparable to the growth of all Southern California. Just as Los Angeles is becoming a true metropolis, the Los Angeles telephone system must be on a metropolitan basis.

Cut-Over August 18

"Los Angeles, and all Southern California points are presenting a great problem of telephone growth," Manager Deal said. "One of the mile posts in this year's expansion problem in that city will have been reached on midnight, August 18, when the big 'olive cut-over' will put into use new machine switching apparatus to serve thousands of business district telephones. Co-incident with the 'cut,' more than 70,000 Los Angeles telephone numbers will be changed, and the new August 18 directory will go into use. Because of these changes, Glendale people should not fail to call 'Information' and make sure of their number before placing a telephone call to Los Angeles on August 19, and later. This should be done in every case until the August 18 directory is made available, and thereafter the new book should be used."

Carl Schwitters and Wife Tell of Trip

Glendale Odd Fellows and Rebekahs were represented at the Odd Fellows' Orphans' home at Gilroy last week by Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Schwitters of 525 North Adams street, who made the home one of their stopping places on their vacation trip, and enjoyed taking fifty of the kiddies to the theatre in Gilroy.

Mr. and Mrs. Schwitters and their friends, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Olmstead and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Southard of San Diego, arrived in Glendale Saturday, after a wonderful vacation outing.

"The whole trip was delightful," says Mrs. Schwitters, "but the big feature was visiting the home at Gilroy. There are eighty-five children there and we had the pleasure of taking fifty of them to the theatre to see a Jackie Coogan picture."

The Schwitters party were in camp twenty-two miles above Bishop and from there they visited Lake Tahoe.

UTAH PASTOR HERE

MANY INDUSTRIES SHOW INCREASES

Federal Tax Returns Reveal Steady Development of Southland Trade

Increases in federal tax receipts for July on articles manufactured and sold in Southern California, ranging from forty to 450 per cent, were presented by Collector Goodcell in his regular monthly report, which was sent to Washington recently.

The feature of the federal chief's survey centered around the tremendous increase in tax paid by manufacturers of auto trucks. Uncle Sam's "cut-in" on this rapidly-developing industry showed a gain of 450 per cent over July of last year.

Manufacturers paid tax on oleo, made and sold here, which again showed a gain of forty-two per cent. While tax receipts on oleo for the United States as a whole have developed a steady decrease since 1920, the manufacture of oleo in Southern California has increased at a remarkable rate.

That the candy industry is rapidly expanding is shown by a forty-six per cent increase in tax payments by manufacturers. This represents sales for the month at manufacturers' prices of $410,000.

More New Business

That many new business enterprises have been launched is evidenced by a sixty-two per cent increase in receipts from the tax on capital stock.

Indicating that the seating capacity of theatres in the district has been enlarged, receipts from the special theatre tax, based on seating capacity, increased thirty-six per cent.

That the number of billiard halls and bowling alleys has increased is indicated by a thirty-six per cent gain in special tax collections.

Country and social clubs paid tax on dues and memberships that recorded an increase of fifty-eight per cent.

Testifying to the fact that business transactions, including conveyances and capital stock issues are more numerous than in July, 1922, documentary stamp sales registered a gain of forty-six per cent for July, 1923.

Telephone and telegraph messages sent a new record in this class of tax, showing an increase of seventy-three per cent in tax receipts.

Tobacco Tax Gains

For the first time in many years tobacco tax collections developed a gain. The figure was four and one-half per cent.

Sales tax receipts as a whole increased 30 per cent, admissions to theatres and other places of amusement thirty per cent, jewelry forty-seven per cent, while tax paid on sales of pictures and sculpture increased eighty-three per cent.

Manufacturers' excise tax collections as a whole represented sales by manufacturers of $2,750,000 worth of taxable articles.

Collection of penalties from bootleggers registered a gain of 600 per cent.

Indicating an increase in the number of tourists now in Southern California the special tax collected on passenger automobiles for hire advanced thirty-six per cent.

Doris Barnard Gives Tribute to Harding

Another memorial tribute to the late president, Warren G. Harding, has been presented in a poem, written by Doris Barnard of 1108 North Central avenue.

Miss Barnard, who writes from Boston, Mass., where she is visiting, is the daughter of Charles B. Barnard of the Central Avenue school in Glendale. Her poem follows:

Gone! Gone! At the very top, When love was about to finish, The task ahead, vile war to stop, And hatred of each other diminish.

Like a bolt from out the quiet sky, The ending came with startling crash! When all seemed well, death was nigh! To prove our joy was rash!

Gone! Gone! But thy spirit lives, Thou hast left thy imprint deep behind. God-crowned art thee, for well He gives—Immortal Soul! Loyal, Noble, Kind!

Former Resident Sees Big Changes In City

N. C. Kelley, a former resident of Glendale in the days before it struck its present stride, was a visitor here Saturday from his home in Corona, where he is president of the Riverside County Farm Bureau and farm editor of the Corona Daily Independent and of the Weekly Courier. Mr. Kelley was at one time connected with the North Glendale Distributing Company, a water company in existence a number of years.

Mr. Kelley is now devoting much of his attention to the work of the farm bureau and in encouraging the citrus industry, in which he is interested as the owner of forty acres of producing groves, and is fostering plans for co-operative marketing of all farm products in order to bring to the farmer a proper return on his investment and his industry.

Patterson Park Changed From Sandy Waste Into Region Of Rare Beauty

THE beautification of Patterson Park is admired with amazement by visiting Glendaleans. Sam Warren of 2764 Verdugo road, park superintendent, is proud of the progress in landscaping which has been made during the past year. This is transforming the sandy, unkempt site into a real park. "Most people who visit the park are surprised at its present condition," said Mr. Warren this morning. "They say that they did not expect to see it so well developed."

About 4000 asters will start to bloom in the park in about a week. These will be rose-pink, purple and lavender in color. It is believed that they will be well worth making a special trip to see.

Plans have been made for the erection of a rustic pergola, with a palm leaf roof just west of the wading pool. This will be about forty feet long and twenty feet wide, and will be equipped with a long picnic table, which will accommodate about fifty picnickers.

Parents may sit under this pergola in the shade while their children play in the wading pool which is now encircled by twenty-five young Italian cypress trees.

Trees Give Shelter

A suggestion recently made, that a grandstand should be built on the south side of the bathhouse facing the swimming pool, is not regarded with favor by Mr. Warren. He feels that it would be a shame to uproot the row of Arizona cypress trees which now shield the swimming pool from the sun.

The work of converting the basement of the band stand into comfort stations is now in progress. This band stand has a floor area thirty-two feet square, raised about four feet from the ground. It is surmounted by a cement dome supported by cement pillars.

The architecture is regarded as quite artistic. It matches the architecture of the bathhouse, the pergola through the center of the sunken garden and the bridge over the lily pond.

The sunken garden, which has an area of about four acres, is a vista of horticultural loveliness. The crest of its rim is surmounted by a row of veronica bushes. The inner slope of the bowl is blooming with beds of verbenas and asters so that either one or the other will be in bloom at all times. The color scheme is rotated like a color wheel.

Many Rose Bushes

The eastern half of the sunken garden is largely devoted to rose bushes which are planted in rows running east and west. A number of popular varieties are included among them being Lady Hillington, Aaron Wards, Von Tiplitz, Lady Testouts, and Killarney Pinks.

A small bird-bath, supported by a pedestal in the center of the rose garden is surrounded by a circular bed of purple portulaca.

A grass covered parkway through the middle of the sunken garden from east to west is planted with properly spaced tree roses. Several large beds of petunias, surrounding smaller beds of canas, are located in the eastern end of the sunken garden. These are of the double, single and fringed varieties. Some of them are six inches in diameter and all are especially beautiful.

A cement-stucco pergola, about five feet in width, extends from north to south through the center of the sunken garden. This will shelter about twenty-five cement benches which will be installed in the near future. A drinking fountain will be placed in the center of the structure. The pergola is flanked on either side by a row of oleanders whose blossoms are now exquisitely pink.

Three beds of flowers occupy the west end of the sunken garden. These are filled with calendulas, zenas and penstemon.

The lily pond, which is immediately to the west of the sunken garden, contains water lilies, portulaca, grass, pampas grass, water iris, water hyacinths, while the bank contains several clumps of elephant ears.

Flower Border Road

The road, which winds through the park, is flanked by flowering Baylianna-Acacias. These are alternated with magnolias around the rim of the sunken garden. There are a few junipers also. This road is to be oiled and paths are to be surfaced with gravel.

Grass seed is to be planted in the near future and soon will be stand-high. Blue grass is to be mixed with clover. Altogether it will occupy about four acres.

Mr. Warren is confident that the park will be completely landscaped before Thanksgiving.

George McKimm Dead From Home Made Wine

George McKimm, whose residence was given as Glenhurst avenue and garden street, south of Glendale, to the Los Angeles police department, died yesterday as the result of drinking home-made wine, the officials believe.

The stricken man is reported to have summoned aid, but before doctors could arrive he had passed away. The body is at the undertaking parlors of Lamb & Sons, Eagle Rock.

SOON TO START WORK ON DEPOT

State Railroad Commission Gives Its Approval to Building Plans

Construction work on the new Glendale Southern Pacific station will begin at an early date, according to a dispatch from the offices of the state railroad commission in San Francisco today.

The message further states that plans have been approved for the freight and passenger terminal here, an enlargement having been made in the passenger facilities for the accommodation of western Los Angeles, Hollywood, Burbank, Glendale, Eagle Rock and Pasadena people.

Originally the plans called for an expenditure of $50,000, the report indicates. Now it is authoritatively known that $87,000 will be spent and local enthusiasts believe that another increase will be made to the Southern Pacific appropriation if the station is not built at once.

Structure's Location

Regarding the location of the depot, the wording of the commission's report follows:

"This station replaces the existing station and is to be located about half way between Los Feliz Road and Glendale boulevard. It is understood that the city of Glendale will provide a street to approach the station from the north."

Original Pioneer Has Lived Here 43 Years

"Forty-three years in Glendale."

That ought to be the title of a book, but it isn't.

It is simply the life experience of W. H. Bullis, a resident of 365 West California street, who was brought here in 1880 by his parents when he was 12 years of age.

Mr. Bullis first lived at where West Broadway now intersects San Fernando road, his family having cleared the brush from the land. He has been out of the state for only five years, he adds, residing for the rest of the time in this vicinity.

As a graduate of the first school, he recollects incidents in the growth of Glendale that are amazing. He says he is now the original pioneer of the city, the only other boasting of longer residence being of Spanish blood.

Mr. Bullis is employed by the city as a paving inspector.

Film Company Organized To Present Wonders Of Peru To Waiting World

By GIL A. COWAN

GLENDALE is now headquarters for the South American Productions, Inc., a film concern which will transfer its activities in September of this year to Peru, according to J. Barstow Budworth, the organizing genius who has obtained an exclusive right to make motion pictures in the land of the Incas for a period of five years. Attorney Claire Anspach of this city is arranging the affairs of the corporation, which already has been financed, and he may be a member of the party of sixty Americans who will sail for the southern republic which is one of the most progressive Latin-American countries.

Leonard T. Galezio, cinematographer, is another Glendale resident who will accompany Mr. Budworth, it is stated, for the purpose of making propaganda films for the government, as well as costume plays of Incas' history and the "shooting" of motion and still pictures of Peruvian and other Southern American scenery which is little known in the United States.

Many Notable Films

Mr. Budworth began his career in filmdom in 1910, interpreting character roles for Biograph, and later becoming a director with the Kalem, Reliance and Majestic companies. He co-starred in numerous features with Anna C. Nilsson and filmed several pictures for the Tropical Film company, including "United States Marines Under Fire in Haiti," "Haiti, the Pearl of the Antilles," and "Following the Flag in Mexico," the latter being a pictured story of General John J. Pershing's pursuit of Villa.

Upon completion of these arduous tasks and losing his films in a disastrous New York theatre fire, Mr. Budworth participated in an expedition of scientific exploration and photography throughout the east coast of South America, later crossing to Chile, Bolivia, Peru, Ecuador and Panama. From these countries he returned to the United States to participate in war work.

In 1920 he returned to Peru for a year's work, during which he became acquainted with the family of President Leguia, as well as many influential Americans and Peruvians who have paved the way to his project for revealing to the world the vast possibilities of the southern hemisphere.

Subjects Are Varied

Scenic views of the mountains, rivers, coast line, harbors, principal cities, ancient villages, railroads over the roof of the world, and primitive settlements are one field of endeavor.

Industrial views of the sugar and rice plantations, mining camps, shipping scenes, Indian markets and industries, transit facilities, as well as religious and civic functions.

An average of 33,500 forest fires annually in the United States are reported by the United States forest service.

Ex-Sergeant Major Terence Rooney, a personal visitor to our fair city, struck Glendale Saturday afternoon peddling his pencils, en route to the state convention of the American Legion at Eureka.

The last time the "sarge" saw us he was on crutches, but now he needs only a cane to navigate. He is official representative of "Buddy" magazine, a member of La Societe des Hommes, as well as delegate to the Legion convention.

"That can't be my old suit"

but the dry cleaner who uses DeLaval Continuous Clarification can work wonders

De Laval Continuous Clarification is generally considered the greatest advance in dry cleaning methods made in the past decade. It keeps our cleansing fluid clean all the time and so immeasurably improves the quality of our work.

Imagine the difference that an ounce or two of dirt will make in the color of a suit or dress. That is the average amount taken from each garment we handle by our improved method of dry cleaning. No wonder that customers sometimes cannot believe their eyes when clothing is returned to them with its original color restored.

This dirt cannot be removed by brushing because it is firmly embedded in the cloth. Here it not only hides the original color of the fabric, but the gritty parts of it cut the threads and materially shorten the life of the garment.

Regular dry cleaning more than pays for itself by keeping clothes free from this injurious matter and so gives them longer life, keeping you better dressed besides.

Why not send us, as a trial order, some garment which you particularly want to have made like new again? Our delivery car will call for it promptly. With the aid of our recently installed De Laval Continuous Clarification System, we will clean it better than you have ever believed possible. Finally, we will deliver it to you just when promised.

Let us demonstrate what our kind of dry cleaning will do.

TODAY—The Suspenders Complex; Corsets for the Male; Bean Recovers Prestige.

TOMORROW—"Greater San Francisco"; To Extend Western City; City Street Lines Success; by Ellis H. Martin, San Francisco Staff.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The latest of complexes, the suspenders variety, has the style-worshipping male population of the metropolis harassed.

Reapers of the hard-earned luxury of these obedient slaves to "what the correct man is wearing" are agreed on this score; the belt sales are slack.

Being a flexible complex, it has all male classes, technically speaking, by the trousers, and manufacturers of the antiquity, it is reported, are predicting that gaudy gallies are "gonna getta grip" on the whole country before the belt has a chance to snap into it and get a tighter hold.

Who's to blame for the resolution? There may be others, but it appears the honors primarily belong to Magnus Johnson, Minnesota farmer-senator-elect, and the man who is responsible for the scourge of patent leather hair-combs—Rodolph Valentino, alias "The Sheik."

It is now evident that little did these esteemed style-setters reckon what the result would be when they came out into the open and evinced their proclivity for greater elasticity in correct dress.

Well, there seems to be no one to question it—the suspenders are snappy.

Not content with one external revolt, there are those devotees to style who are advocating (no fooling) corsets for men.

"What's this country coming to, anyway," the writer heard one man asking another in conversation. "There's no dispute on the point that 'co-wrecked' form would be the real mission of the corset to shape the wearer's career."

And all this climaxes an announcement at the Mercantile Exposition (in the broadest sense) that corsets practically are going to be taboo with a vengeance, who wishes to be right in style, figuratively speaking.

And, in the words of the gentleman quoted above, there is cause to wonder "if man really is to become the unwitting victim of the law of compensation, because somebody has to wear the darn things."

What spaghetti is to the Italian and hot tamales to the Mexican, the lowly bean is to the army old-timer. The regard approaches reverence, as all veterans will vouchsafe.

The army really made the bean famous, or infamous, as you will, so why should not the old-timer, the man who assisted in making the bean innovation permanent, almost take an apoplectic stroke when the much-maligned vegetable is stricken from a company's menu?

"The curse of the service" met a champion in Colonel Allan Reagan of Brooklyn, commander of the Seventy-first Regiment, New York State National Guard, at the guard encampment at Peekskill. While reconnoitering among garbage cans, as a part of a sanitary inspection, Colonel Reagan, much to his discomfort, discovered a quantity of beans, uncooked, unserved and unlabeled. This called for an explanation from Mess Sergeant Fred Miller, wearer of the D. S. C., Croix de Guerre and many wound stripes.

"They're not our beans, sir," Sergeant Miller explained. "Let me see the menu," angrily demanded the colonel.

The menu was brought forth, and lo! it sustained the mess sergeant. In fact, it showed that nary a bean had been served the regiment since its arrival at the camp.

And then and there, without the formality of a court-martial, Colonel Reagan decided the bean was A. W. O. L., and in a voice of affection in which was not to be denied, he ordered its reinstatement to the honor position due its venerable self on the bill of fare.

The regimental Utopia was surfeited with beans.

FAULTS IN PISTON AND RING FITTING JOBS

Bad Judgment Is Responsible For as Many as Is Poor Workmanship

An imperfect ring, which does not expand to a true circle, will not pack a truly circular cylinder bore, but will leave crescent-shaped spaces for the leakage of oil and gas, while a truly circular ring, in an oval cylinder, will leave similarly shaped leakage spaces. Even a ring which fits the general contour of a cylinder wall perfectly obviously cannot seal scores in its surface. Rings which are too narrow for their grooves or those whose ends stand too far apart leak oil and gas, while those fitted with too little end-clearance expand when heated and bind upon the cylinder walls, causing undue friction, rapid wear and possible scoring. If rings are too tight in their grooves they bind therein and fail to conform to slight variations in the bore. Pistons themselves are supposed to so nearly fit their cylinder bores as to approximate toward exact tightness—the rings being intended to take care of the remaining tendency toward leakage, when oil is present, and, therefore, even the careful installation of the best rings will seldom secure permanent tightness, especially as the rings will wear rapidly in their grooves and piston-slaps, if present, will still continue. If, in fitting new pistons, those of too large diameter are chosen and too little clearance allowed between them and their cylinder walls, their expansion, when heated, is likely to make them bind, squeeze out the oil film and scratch the cylinder walls. Cast iron, aluminum alloys and other metals have different rates of expansion and it is a matter of careful fitting and exact knowledge of the properties of the materials involved to determine the correct clear diameter of replacement pistons. Ill-adapted rings and careless workmanship are, of course, responsible for very many failures in refitting engines, but ill-considered attempts to make worn-out and damaged cylinders tight by putting in new pistons and rings are responsible for even more.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BROWN WREN
By HOWARD R. GARIS
Uncle Wiggily was hopping around in the woods one day not far from his hollow stump bungalow, when he saw Betty Ringtail, the little raccoon girl, and Arabella Chink, her hen girl. The two friends were having a play party.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! I'm so sorry!" cackled Arabella, as the bunny gentleman hopped toward the flat stump table.

"Sorry for what?" asked Uncle Wiggily, with a jolly twinkle of his pink nose.

"I am sorry we ate up all the good things we had for our play party," called Arabella, "and there is nothing left for you."

"So am I sorry, too," said Betty Ringtail. "We didn't know you were coming, Uncle Wiggily, or we would have saved you a piece of cherry pie."

"Well, I am very fond of cherry pie," laughed the bunny gentleman. "But don't worry about me, I am not so very hungry."

"There are only crumbs left," again cackled the hen girl. "And as I don't savor you want them, Uncle Wiggily. I may as well throw them away."

Arabella was going to shake the white birch bark tablecloth that was on the flat stump when the bunny gentleman held up one paw.

"Don't shake the cloth and spill the crumbs!" he said.

"Why not?" asked Betty. "They are such tiny crumbs and so few of them—for Arabella and I ate nearly everything—why, those crumbs wouldn't fill an elephant's hollow tooth."

"Still I know for whom they will make a good meal," said the bunny gentleman. "Let me have the crumbs."

Arabella emptied them from the tablecloth into Uncle Wiggily's tall silk hat, and the crumbs were so tiny and few that they could hardly be seen. But Uncle Wiggily stood up on the stump and called:

"Come little wren! Come tiny, brown wren and get these crumbs! They will be plenty for you! Come, little brown wren!"

Then a sweet song was heard, and a small brown bird—one of the smallest of all birds excepting the humming bird—flew down out of a tree and perched on the stump, sang most joyfully.

"Here you are, little brown wren," said Uncle Wiggily.

The bunny gentleman emptied the crumbs from his tall silk hat, and the wren began picking them up in his tiny bill. When he had eaten about half of them, the brown wren gentleman said:

"Now I will call my wife and let her eat," and he sang and whistled until his wife came. Mrs. Wren was not so good a singer as was her husband, but she was very thankful for the crumbs.

"And if ever we can do you a favor, Uncle Wiggily, we'll do it," said Mr. Wren as he and his wife flew away, while Arabella and Betty went back to their homes, very glad that they had done their part in feeding the wrens.

So, when the Bob Cat came back with the Fox and Wolf, Uncle Wiggily wasn't there at all. And, oh, how angry those bad chaps were!

But it served them right. And, if the roof of the house doesn't fall down the cellar steps when it is trying to hide in the coal bin, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's ice cream cone.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man and at times I am at a loss to know when and how to do certain things when with friends or strangers especially.

Is a man supposed to tip his hat on being introduced to a lady, and with which hand should it be executed?

Does an invitation from a girl from another city to a man to come to see her imply that he should stay at her home at night or should he go to an hotel?

Is the girl expected to meet him at the depot? Should the man ask her to do this? On departure should he expect her to accompany him to the depot or merely say good-bye at the house.

Should the man suggest going out in the evening while at her home or should he expect her to have some form of an entertainment.

Occasions govern actions to a great extent, and therefore when you are in doubt watch others do the thing which seems courteous and appropriate to you.

It is correct to remove your hat when you are introduced to a lady. Do it with the right hand.

If the girl says nothing about staying at her home, the young man should count on staying at a hotel.

The girl is not expected to meet him at the depot, but there is a great chance that she will be there. In case she is not, the young man should telephone her

POEMS THAT LIVE
ODE
We are the music-makers,
And we are the dreamers of dreams,
Wandering by lone sea-breakers,
And sitting by desolate streams;

On whom the pale moon gleams:
Yet we are the movers and shakers
Of the world for ever, it seems.

With wonderful deathless ditties
We build up the world's great cities,
And out of an emperor's glory
We fashion out an empire.

One man with a dream, at pleasure,
Shall go forth and conquer a crown;
And three with a new song's measure
Can trample an empire down.

We, in the ages lying
In the buried past of the earth,
Built Nineveh with our sighing,
And Babel itself with our mirth;

And o'erthrew them with prophesying
To the old of the new world's
For each age is a dream that is dying
Or one that is coming to birth.

to their wishes and lower my ideal? AN ANGEL CHILD.

At the age of 15 you are very young to spend much time with boys. By no means lower your ideals. You would gain nothing by giving in to the wishes of the boys who want to go with you simply for love making. Such boys kiss a girl and then boast about it and talk about her afterward. You might gain a cheap and short-lived popularity if you let boys have what they want, merely for the sake of going with them. My advice is to let them go, one after another, even if the case looks hopeless. There is a higher type of young man who will meet sooner or later and he will take you for yourself and will be interested in your companionship.

BILLY WILKES

FRANCIS TREGO MONTGOMERY

You remember how excited we were yesterday when Billy butted the bridge man and caused the accident. Such confusion you never saw. The tug whistled, the people on either side of the river waiting to cross over called, whistled and screamed to the bridge turner to look out and to stop turning the bridge. But of course, big Billy goat butting him every time he paused, how could he stop or even pay any attention to their warning cries? He knew it would cost him his job, and ran to the edge of the bridge and jumped into the water, thinking he would drown himself. And Billy leaped off after him. It was a very high jump and the river was deep, so the man was a good while coming to the surface. When he did, not knowing how to swim, he struck out feebly for something to which to cling, for on his way to the bottom of the river he had changed his mind about wishing to die and now he was ready to do anything to be saved.

When he came to the surface, his eyes were full of water and he could see nothing, so when his hand touched something that felt like long, strong grass, he buried his fingers in it and began to call loudly for help. When finally he opened his eyes and found that what he had supposed was grass was the long hair on his enemy's back, he let go and was just ready to sink under the water again when he threw out his arm and grabbed Billy around the neck. When he found that Billy was not around his neck and hung on tight, while Billy swam to shore.

When the people on that side of the river saw this, they cheered and cheered, and a man jumped into a rowboat and hastened to Billy's assistance, and showed him where he could swim into a slip and climb out of the water.

Now Nannie was still on the other side of the river, nearly frantic with fright, for she could not see the opposite side of the bridge where Billy was, on account of the broken mast and the other wreckage that was on the bridge.

Marrying a Cook

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

"Jevver strike you Mamie that us girls is at a terrible disadvantage?"

"Lots of things strike me, including the fact that you're getting money. What's the trouble?" Irene Connors polished the counter of Morgan's Quick Meal Restaurant and kept one eye on the cashier's window in front, where sat the wife of the proprietor.

"You know, to everyone who comes in here we are waitresses. Folks think of serving up food when we appear, they don't think of cooking it. Did that ever strike you?"

"Look here, Irene, what's on your mind? If you don't like your job, there's one in the kitchen."

Irene plunged into the subject. "I was just thinking if, say, when that Mr. Watkins came in next time and I was waiting on him, you'd walk up and say, 'kinda low but loud enough for him to hear, that a particular friend of the boss was planning a little dinner and that he wished, ever so much, I would cook it.' Irene was blushing but she looked at the other as if to defy her to make fun of the idea. "Us girls has got to work together in this place. You'll do it, won'tcha? I'll do as much for you."

That is how it happened that the gentle Mr. Watkins was given the opportunity to form a new estimate of the pink and white girl who brought him his morning's waffle.

"Wants me to cook for them again?" Irene received the message. "Of course I'll do it. I love to cook!"

Back at the kitchen counter where they received their orders it was decided the experiment had been a success.

"Didya notice him sit up and take notice, Mamie? We knocked him for a row of muffs!"

Indeed Mr. Watkins appeared impressed. From that day he found voice to address remarks to Irene concerning the weather and in time to hint vaguely there were good shows in town.

"Remember," Irene repeated to Mamie, "I'll do as much for you some day."

One day Mr. Watkins did not appear and, on the next, the girl chided him jokingly.

"Thought maybe you'd decided to eat at the Purple Front for a change."

"Not me. When I eat I like service, good service, like I get here."

"And when he said it," Irene confided to Mamie, "he looked at me all full of heart throbs like a movie. Oh, Mamie, you oughta be in love!"

The courage of Mr. Watkins increased. There were shows and dances and, finally, a proposal.

"You won't have to wait on table any more," the accepted suitor announced. "You can stay in your own kitchen and cook."

"Oh, yes," said Irene doubtfully, "won't that be nice!"

"I've gotta tell him I don't know a killet from a stewpan. Oh, Mamie, lookit what you've got me in for now!"

"If I were you," Mamie disregarded the accusation, "I'd break it to him gently before you got married. Remember, he thinks he's marrying Madame Pancake herself."

The confession came haltingly but progressed as Mr. Watkins continued to smile.

"You will think I'm a deceitful thing," Irene sobbed, "and maybe you won't love me any more."

"Oh, I don't know. You see, I've got a little secret from you. Tell me, did you put Mamie up to that speech about your being a cook?"

Irene nodded.

"Well, what would you say if I told you I am cook at the Purple Front?"

Irene gasped. "I'd ask you, then, why you ate at Morgan's."

"And I'd say because I had seen you inside. I'm not looking for a cook, girl, and I never was, but I was always—well, always scared of girls. When Mamie said that she winked at me, and it encouraged me to think you cared."

After a while Irene lifted a happy face. "Anyhow," she said, "there's going to be a cook in the family."

FROCKS OF ARRESTING LOVELINESS

Soft little frocks of Georgette crepe, trimmed with ribbon are among the things that Paris couturiers delight to emphasize. To the left is a model in gray, with polka dots of green silk. The neck is finished with a round collar, scalloped at the lower edge and bound with ribbon. This trimming corresponds with the treatment of the edge of the short sleeves and full gathered skirt. A girde of ribbon finishes the waist. Medium size requires 5 1/2 yards 36-inch material.

Otter flat crepe developed into a frock of the type of the second model would be serviceable as well as smart. A round collar finishes the oval-shaped neck, while the short kimono sleeves are trimmed with turn-back cuffs. The material is used for the sash-girdle. Medium size requires 3 3/4 yards 36-inch crepe and 1/2 yard 36-inch lining.

First Model—Pictorial Review Dress No. 1711. Sizes, 16 to 20 years, and 34 to 42 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

Second Model—Dress No. 1632. Sizes, 34 to 42 inches bust, and 16 to 20 years. Price, 35 cents.

THE THINGS THAT HOLD US BACK

How easily we do fool ourselves about ourselves!

We are always sure that the thing that keeps us from doing or being what we ought is something outside ourselves. Never inside!

I realized recently that I was not keeping in touch with current events as I ought to (I had heard a woman who is very clever and up to date talking of affairs of the day, and realized that several of the allusion were over my head).

"I must be because we no longer have that current events magazine," I explained to myself. "We are going to take that again when we get back in the fall, and then I certainly will read it every week and keep right up on things."

And then a still small voice asked me, "Will you, really?"

And when I said indignantly, "Of course I will," it went on: "You have one copy of that magazine that you bought at a newsstand. It has been on your table two weeks. Have you read it through?"

I hadn't.

Of course I called my own bluff that time, but we don't always catch ourselves at it. And yet we are at it from the cradle to the grave.

When we are young we are always going to buckle down and do something worth while just as soon as we get through school, or when we get back from our summer vacation.

And, as we grow older and fail to do anything startling, we are always sure that we could have if we had only taken some different training, or married the right person, or not had so many children, or moved to a larger city. The possibility that something startling wasn't in us, or that if it was we didn't make the effort necessary to get it out, we put resolutely out of our thoughts.

When We Are Going to Read I wonder if there ever was anyone who wasn't going to do some serious reading when some special time came round. Maybe it's a whole.

Remember thy skin and keep it whole.

BEAUTY CHATS

SUMMER COOLNESS

There are still many weeks of hot weather ahead of us. Too many for the woman who has not learned to keep herself cool during our summer heat waves. I was told once by a nurse from a hospital which treated many cases of heat prostration that practically none of the women they treated were properly dressed for hot weather.

You should wear only loose clothes on hot days. If you do this, you can leave off most of your underthings, without fear of looking slovenly. If you have a slim or medium figure you can go without corsets and undervest, and instead wear next to you a loose muslin chemise. This lets the air reach your skin and keeps you many degrees cooler. If you are quite stout, you should wear light stays of loose, porous material.

A tepid or cool bath two or three times a day will keep you looking and feeling fresh. A liberal use of either talcum powder or corn starch mixed with a little boracic acid powder will keep the skin cool and sweet. For excessive perspiration try this valuable formula:

To Prevent Excessive Perspiration
Epsom Salts ..... 3 ounces
Wheat Bran ..... 1/2 pint
Water ..... 4 pints

Mix and let stand over night; in the morning strain and add four ounces of bay rum. This lotion can be wiped over the skin as often as you wish. It won't stop all perspiration—if it did it would be harmful—but it will cure excessive perspiration (which often points to poor health, by the way) and it will neutralize disagreeable odor. Use this for armpits, face, neck and hands.

Brownie—Any exercise in which you use the legs will tend to develop them; for instance, bicycle riding or climbing.

Reader—The doctor who performed the operation for hernia will be the one for you to consult about taking exercise. I should

Do you feel Daunt in hot weather

ment with the tips of the fingers; follow this up by dashing cold water or with an ice rub until the skin tingles.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, and for a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Keys to the Calories"

Most of you realize the importance of your children being taught to keep their teeth clean by a thorough brushing at least twice a day, and most of you realize the importance of taking your children to a dentist at frequent and regular intervals. They should be taken every four months at least. Tiny cavities can then be filled with practically no pain, so the children will not suffer, nor fear the visit. And this is just as important for the temporary as well as the permanent teeth.

I believe you realize all this, mothers. But have you realized the importance of furnishing in your children's diets the material for building strong and healthy teeth so that they will be more resistant to decay and will develop properly?

Haven't you thought that whether the teeth are good or bad was an inherited characteristic which you could not alter? That because father and mother had bad teeth, their children would probably have bad teeth, too?

While we cannot deny that the shape and size may be more or less an inherited characteristic, we now know that inheritance is the smallest factor in determining whether the teeth shall be good or poor. The factor which determines whether the teeth shall be good or poor is whether the diet is rich in building materials for the teeth or not.

The mother's diet during pregnancy (during the last months of which the baby's teeth begin to develop) and while nursing the baby, and the child's diet after weaning, are the chief factors in the development of the first teeth. Not inheritance as we use that term.

Whether the permanent teeth are good or poor depends upon the child's diet while they are developing, as well as the dental and cleaning care they receive. Largely the diet, mothers! In the examination of the teeth in school children, by far the greater proportion of decayed and irregular teeth are found among the malnourished children.

The special requirements in diet for the teeth are met if you follow the directions I have given for supplying at least three glasses of milk, a goodly amount of green leaf vegetables, some fruits, nuts, etc., for the mineral elements necessary to be deposited in the teeth and for their vitamins; and some hard foods such as coarse cereals, dried toasts, and food containing fiber—these hard foods for the exercise that thorough mastication will give the jaws and the teeth.

It has been estimated that when we chew hard food we exert a pressure of from 100 to 250 pounds on the teeth. This pressure brings a good circulation of blood to the teeth and jaws and helps in their development. And this is important, mothers.

Thorough mastication is also necessary for the proper mixing of the foods for the first digestive juice, the saliva, and for finely dividing the foods so that they will be easily attacked by the digestive juices in the stomach and later in the intestines.

LA CRESCENTA CELEBRATE SON'S THIRD BIRTHDAY

Children Are Entertained at Elaborate Affair Held at Wemple Home

Major and Mrs. Wemple entertained a small group of guests at their home Saturday from 3 to 5 p. m. to celebrate the third birthday anniversary of their son, Emmet Wemple. The tea table was spread under the great oak trees in the Wemple garden from the branches of which strings of Japanese lanterns added a gay note. The table was a picture of pink and white and this color scheme was carried throughout.

A centerpiece of pink and white asters added an attractive floral note. The place cards were cunning kewpie dolls, those for the little girls being adorned with large pink crepe paper picture hats. Those of the wee boys, pink cone shaped hats. At the side of each cover, lay a dainty pink bon bon cracker and the exploding of these added to the fun—especially when the contents proved to be brilliantly colored caps—which the guests and young host immediately donned.

Poised gracefully on the edge of each ice cream dish was a daintily colored crepe paper snapper, which was put to a noise producing use at once. The piece de resistance was the white birthday cake in its dainty pink nest with three wee pink candles on top. Punch and various bon-bons completed the refreshments.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Emmet Wemple Jr. were: Dorothy Woolsey, Marie Perkins, Charles Perkins, Helen and Dorothy Zeigler and Elizabeth Talbot Martin, all of La Crescenta, and Raymond Scudder attended by Mrs. Scudder of Los Angeles.

Miss Marion Keith and sister, Ruth Keith of Altura avenue, were the week-end guests of friends in Hollywood. Hollywood. Mr. and Mrs. Busch are running around in a new Dodge car these days. Since disposing of the feed business Mr. Busch has more time and is using it in seeing a little of the surrounding country.

Growth of Glendale Surprise to Aviator

Glendale's growth was an eye-opener to Lieut. W. B. Hawkins, an officer in the United States flying corps reserve, when he dropped in here Monday after an absence of five years, and he declares that he spent several hours wandering up and down the streets of the city looking for a face of a single friend whom he had known when he attended the Glendale Union high school, but failed to find a single one. When he left Glendale in 1918 it was a small village, he says, and the change to a city of 40,000 inhabitants, with signs of progress on every hand, has been almost unbelievable to him.

Lieut. Hawkins during the war was aviation instructor at Kelly Field, Tex., and some years ago he carried passengers from Glendale on a commercial plane for a short period. He is now engaged in the automobile business at Roseville, near Sacramento, and has just completed his annual training at Crissy Field, San Francisco.

Search for Adventure Comes to End Here

A search for adventure in an automobile truck came to an end yesterday morning in Glendale.

Bakersfield was left behind Saturday by Henry Gunter, 16, and Clinton Douglas, 14, who somehow just got tired of living at home. They started out in a Maxwell truck to see the world, being careful, however to supply themselves with an arsenal of guns for defense against bandits. They carried a mechanic's grip full of miscellaneous tools and a large outlay of assorted keys.

The trip came to an end when the boys were invited by Officer Louis Nunn and Officer W. W. Hedrick to register at "The City Hotel." They were taken home by William Douglas, who made the trip from Bakersfield for them.

COMMENT That's All

New View of South America Necessity of Direct Primary People for Peace, Alright Confidence in Government

By Gil A. Cowan

In other columns today you will find a news account of a motion picture expedition to Peru. And, when you think of any South American country, it is about the same as a New Yorker views the wild and woolly west. For which we have the late and lamented Theodore Roosevelt to criticize, perhaps, in that his experience in Montana was with Indians and buckaroos; while in the tropics of South America there was the "flood river," snakes and other mysterious things.

Fact is that "Teddy" used to go hunting with our fellow townsman "Jim" Rhoades, when he was in the northwest and while he did have Indian guides, perhaps, you can find Indians camped over in Cahuenga pass, Hollywood, this very day.

In South America the Roosevelt expedition, purpose of the trip for the worst to be found, entering from the east coast and giving Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires much commendation, but leaving to the comments of imagination the rest of the southern hemisphere.

Peru, under American influence to a large extent, has become a wonderful country on the western coast. It has an ideal climate, clean cities, great fertility and a progressive people.

And Peru stands not alone, for Ecuador, Bolivia and even Chile are awakening to the possibilities of progress. Yet pitifully few Americans venture south of the equator to see what's what with the resulting ignorance.

South America merits legitimate exploitation and the day is coming when whom manufacturers, wholesalers and even artisans will think nothing more of going to Peru, South America, than they do today of going to the San Joaquin valley.

From sentiments expressed in both the Los Angeles morning papers in the last week, President Harding's death was a matter of great political importance, one favoring the erection of a World Court in memory to the departed executive; the other using the occasion to discuss presidential timor in 1924.

It does not behoove either to call the kettle black, but from the sidelines of Glendale it may be truthfully said that if the people want a World Court, of course they will have it; but if the people want a certain man for president, it probably shall not come to pass.

Until the people are given a direct primary at which they may nominate their choice for president, it is futile to think of any one obtaining the office who is not four-square with the principles set down by the dominant factors, the monied interests of all parties.

Friend W. Richardson, for instance, likely never could have been governor of this state without the primary.

Now for the World Court bug-a-boo. Is something the wealthy internationalists (who would pose as altruists) want the United States to sponsor. Yeah, they want to hand us something! But the American wasn't born that way, if you recollect a little story.

A financier once stood on the corner of Broad and Wall streets in New York and offered to give $5 gold pieces to passersby. Did they take them? They did not. They were too self-respecting. They had too much principle. They were endowed with common sense and realized that you never get something for nothing, unless it is to prove a point, like a sample of nut butter on a soda cracker at a grocery demonstration.

There is no doubt but what everybody in the United States, as well as every other nation, would vote for world peace if they had the opportunity. They have had enough of war from time immemorial, but they do not want to be "handed anything."

And the quicker the politicians realize that a World Court will never be born in Downing street, or Wall street, or Lausanne the sooner the efforts of the common people will culminate in the truly altruistic desire of "peace on earth, good will toward all men."

Glendale keeps its place in building next to Pasadena, San Diego and Long Beach, to forget Los Angeles with its millions upon millions of dollars' worth of new structures monthly.

But W. H. Bullis, a pioneer here, comments that "Glendale has just started to grow." Yes, nothing will stop Glendale now, it would appear. Yet with its growth numerous problems have to be untangled and every resident should put his shoulder to the wheel in aiding the city administration.

Confidence of citizens is the greatest thing in municipal, county, state or national government. Always speak well of those who serve you.

Wreck in Colorado Follows Confusion Over Orders, Reports Declare

FOWLER, Colo., Aug. 13.—Seven trainmen were killed, two others injured and one passenger injured early this morning in a head-on collision between Colorado & Southern railroad and Santa Fe train six miles north of this town. The dead:

James A. Hanson, engineer, La Junta.

J. P. Pearson, fireman, La Junta.

F. Schnicke, engineer, Pueblo.

G. H. Gray, engineer, Denver.

G. L. Chevalier, fireman, Denver.

Ernest King, baggageman, Kansas City.

Van Thiers Brown, baggageman, Denver.

The two injured trainmen are Mrs. Morton of Iowa and Mrs. Jennie Barrett of Hollywood.

Mrs. M. W. Halferty and son, Lloyd are enjoying a visit with Mrs. Netta Engaman, daughter and sister, and son William, who will spend a vacation period in Tujunga. They make their home in Anderson, Indiana.

Mrs. Leo L. Lang has returned to her home in Tujunga after a three months' trip to her old home in Cooperstown, North Dakota, taking in Pacific Northwest cities and St. Paul en route.

named Burleigh and Hirsch.

A woman, Pearl Brown of Wichita, Kan., was the only passenger to sustain injuries. Her hip was badly cut, and she suffered injuries about the shoulders.

Other passengers on the Colorado & Southern train were shaken up, but none seriously hurt. The heavy all-steel coaches of the Santa Fe train saved passengers from more than a slight shakeup. The Colorado & Southern train, running with two engines, was running by way of La Junta because of washouts following floods from Walsenburg yesterday. The Santa Fe was a through train from Chicago. The crash came at the west switch of the Fowler yards and is believed to have resulted in a misunderstanding of orders. The impact was so terrific that the three locomotives left the tracks, one baggage car turned over and another one left the rails. Coaches on both trains remained upright. Members of the train crews were almost instantly killed.
